Pastor's Pen

Rev. Sunyoung Lee

From my charge conference report to the church:

In my life, music has been a powerful tool that elicits emotional, psychological, and spiritual responses. I experience God's presence most strongly when I am immersed in singing and/or playing songs of praise. In the form of music, the words of the Scripture become real to me and I am more receptive to the intention of Christ for me as it is communicated through songs. Depending on the season of my life, certain praise songs occupy my heart more than the others. When my soul is glad, I often sing "I Will Celebrate" by Maranatha Singers. When I am downcast, I visit the words of "Still" by Hillsong. Time and again, music repeatedly brings peace to my restless heart and clarifies my muddled thoughts.

These days, "I Give You My Heart" by Hillsong has been lingering in my mind. It is a beautiful praise that expresses a desire to completely live for God in every facet of life, but what really captivates me currently is the chorus:

Lord, I give You my heart
I give You my soul, I live for You alone
Every breath that I take, every moment I'm awake
Lord, have Your way in me

This song found itself in my mouth as I was praying before the Lord one morning recently. I do not exactly remember what I was praying for... perhaps about my life or ministry, but I kept repeating the last line, "Lord have your way in me." After spending much time in singing and praying, I quieted my soul and sought out God's will, and I couldn't help but feel that gentle reminder from God that it is the Almighty who calls us to do God's holy work, instead of us telling our Creator what we want to do with our life. I spent more time in prayer asking for God's mercy if I had been insisting on my way with God instead of letting my Lord have his way in me.

As I think about our future together and reflect back on what has taken place at Centenary this past year and half, it is my earnest prayer that each and every one of us will first and foremost seek God to have God's way in us. Sometimes, regrettably, we lose sight of God and let our own agendas, pride, and reputation become our idols, often resulting in outputs of anger and resentment. It grieves me to have witnessed Centenary being plagued with such negativity that gave rise to some disgracing and damaging gossip about our church. Several months ago, I've learned that these malicious spread of rumors have found themselves even on the East Coast!

Reuben Morgan, a worship leader from Sydney, Australia, wrote the song "I Give You My Heart" while he was studying at the Institute of Music. Just a week before an important ministry opportunity, Reuben was involved in a car accident that reminded him just how fragile and uncertain his life was. Friends, this life of ours is just too short to waste it in bitterness and hostility. Lord Jesus spoke against anger as found in Matthew 5:21-24:

"You have heard that it was said to those of ancient times, 'You shall not murder'; and 'whoever murders shall be liable to judgment.' But I say to you that if you are angry with a brother or sister, you will be liable to judgment; and if you insult a brother or sister, you will be liable to the council; and if you say, 'You fool,' you will be liable to the hell of fire. So when you are offering your gift at the altar, if you remember that your brother or sister has something against you, leave your gift there before the altar and go; first be reconciled to your brother or sister, and then come and offer your gift."

We know that Jesus has shown a raw emotion or two as recorded in the Bible, in so, he was probably not speaking against all forms of anger. Rather, he was pointing to a kind of selfish anger that surges within us when we don't get our own way or when something annoys us. Such anger blocks us from being graceful and understanding of others, shutting out God's blessings in our life. As Jesus reminds us, this is not the way of God for us. We are to reconcile with others and offer God's peace when someone sins against us.

Again, Dear friends in Christ, our life is too precious to reside in that dark place for long. If you read along that same chapter from the Gospel of Matthew, Jesus takes one step even further by telling us that we are called to even love our own enemies! (Matthew 5:44-45 "But I tell you, love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you, that you may be children of your Father in heaven. He causes his sun to rise on the evil and the good, and sends rain on the righteous and the unrighteous.") Can we unquestionably call ourselves as true followers of Jesus Christ when his words are not lived out in our lives and we continue to harbor ill will and displeasure?

Centenary, we have much work cut out for us, but if we ask God to shape us instead of trying to lead God to follow our way, I believe God will work with us and use us for greater things that can ever be conceived by our human mind. Let us remain in prayer for one another as we willingly offer our all to our Maker. "Lord, have Your way in us."

Peace,
Rev. Sunyoung Lee

Visual Implementation Team

Update on VIT (Vision Implementation Team) Committee
By Judge Ernie (Ernie Hiroshige) Committee Chair

As Chair of the VIT Committee, I wanted to let you all know something about what our committee does for Centenary UMC.

The VIT Committee is charged with evaluating what pressing issues confront our Church and recommending new courses of action for Centenary UMC as to these issues. VIT may also be called upon to evaluate whether our Church is carrying out its previously determined course of action.

It is VIT which initiated, through the guidance of Pastor Sunnie, that our Church Mission Statement would be changed to ---ENRICH, EMPOWER AND IMPACT. After approval by the Church Council, this new motto was introduced to the congregation at our Rally Sunday of 2017.

Among the current issues VIT is considering are: 1) a Strategic Marketing Campaign for Centenary UMC with the goal to grow our congregation; 2) What program should Centenary adopt in helping the Homeless; and 3) evaluating and categorizing the written comments received from our congregation from Rally Sunday 2018.

As you can see, VIT, is here, we believe, to serve the best interests of our Church – Centenary UMC --- through discussion, research, evaluation, which may lead to a recommended course of action that can be acted upon by our Senior Pastor Sunyoung Lee or by the Church Council or other appropriate committee like Trustees or Finance.

Due to our current interest in strategic marketing --- if you have a strong marketing background or a strong background in computer skills and/or website design or management please let me know --- this Church can use your help.

VIT must be open to suggestions from its committee members or other members of our congregation as to what additional topics might be explored by VIT. We encourage you to forward any suggestions you have and if you are interested in serving on VIT please feel free to email me at ernesthiroshige@gmail.com.

VIT has regular quarterly meetings during the year. If you are interested in attending any of our meetings or if you wish to discuss any issue concerning our church, you are invited to attend. If you have an issue to discuss, please let me know in advance and I will place it on the meeting agenda.

Our members are Pastor Sunnie, Carole Sasaki, Wendell Oyama, Fran Wong, Vicky Leon, Dennis Park, Carol Fujita, and Lori Nakama.

GUEST PREACHER REV. DR. MARK URICKSON

Rev. Dr. Mark Ulrickson was the guest preacher on Sunday, September 23. Currently Lead Pastor at Los Altos UMC, he has a passion for connecting spiritual rooting with compassionate action for justice.

He opened his message with a quote from Proverbs: “May you live in interesting times.” We live in a world that is divided and politicized. We have difficulty finding common ground - it’s like a drop of water in a sea of hostility. What is the role of the church in this world of animosity?

We might look to the actions of King Solomon as recorded in 1 Kings. He calls together the elders of Israel, all the heads of the tribes and the chiefs of the Israelite families to the temple to place the ark. It was the coming together of the Israelites after the exodus, exile, and liberation. As King Solomon spoke to those gathered, he chose his words carefully. He could have said, “Israel deserved this place,” but said instead, “It’s a gift from God.” He could have said, “God is ours,” but said, “the heavens can’t hold God, much less this temple. We can’t tame him, he is not ours.” He celebrates all people of Israel by saying, “When foreigners come into this place, God will hear their prayers.” Solomon defined the role of the church in a time of animosity.

Prayer is transforming. It is not the choice of last resort when nothing can be done, but a continuous part of our lives.

Dietrich Bonhoeffer was a German pastor during the rise of Hitler. He opposed the Nazi Regime from its beginnings and spoke out against the persecution of the Jews. As like-minded Christians joined him to help hide the Jews, he insisted on confessing prayer, not formal prayer. By naming self before God, God was given the opening to be transforming. Bonhoeffer believed that Christians should not retreat from the world but act in it.

His example was an inspiration to the Civil Rights Movement. Prayer was a part of the protest for equal rights wherever people gathered: household meetings, church services, on the streets and marches in song. Prayer helped protestors face anxiety. Prayer was empowering and helped change the world.

Changes can also happen in silence. During the Cold War, behind the Iron Curtain, a Christian pastor held weekly prayer session to pray for peace. 6-12 people met quietly for several years. When the group was later opened to everyone, it became a safe place to talk in the context of prayer. The group would then walk the neighborhood in silence, candles lit. Two years later, the silent walkers grew into the thousands. Prayers were transforming and moved people to peaceful action.

ANNIVERSARY SUNDAY - GUEST PREACHER REV. DR. SAMUEL LEE

On October 14, Centenary celebrated 122 years of ministry. Rev. Samuel Lee spoke a little of Centenary's history as a home for Japanese-Americans, closed during WWII evacuation but a repository for possessions of church families, and a return after the war that saw Centenary as a spiritual and physical home for evacuees.

On a recent day, Rev Lee received a call from his daughter who is a university professor of Urban Planning in Arizona. Two of her students had plagiarized their papers and a complaint had been filed. She was having a bad day and needed to talk.

In the book, Alexander and the Terrible, Horrible, No Good Very Bad Day, Alexander wakes up with gum in his hair, did not find a prize in his cereal box, didn't get the window seat in his carpool, had a difficult school day, the dentist finds a cavity, the shoe store doesn't have the shoe he wants in his size, and dinner, TV time, bath time and bedtime don't go smoothly. Alexander complains that it was a horrible, terrible, very bad day to which his mother responds that some days are just like that.

It doesn't matter how often we read the Bible or attend worship, we all have our share of bad days. No one is immune but Christians bring a perspective to bad days.

We are to live life abundantly. When troubles come, faithful souls with God's help turn troubles into testimonies that direct us to serve God. To a childless couple, a daughter was finally born – a big smile in their lives. In the 10th year of her life she died. Life came to a standstill, grief consumed them. On her funeral day, her father knelt down and prayed – “grant me strength to smile enough for both of us.” Through prayer, life became joyous as he trusted in God.

Faith gives us the strength to stand up, to turn trite life into realized life. Triumphs direct us to serve God more as we seek higher things, seeking things from above. In the play “Our Town” Emily says her good-byes after her death. She takes her time acknowledging the things that surrounded her during her lifetime, things she took for granted, and wonders if human beings ever realize life while they live it. For followers of Jesus Christ, every moment is a gift from God. We have the ability to live for others. Instead of flowers at a funeral, take a boy fishing. Let go of grudges and live a life of abundance.

ENRICH

IMPACT

GUEST PREACHER REV. MARK NAKAGAWA

On October 21, the day of our annual Charge Conference, Rev. Mark was welcomed to the pulpit.

We make thousands of choices each day. Most are small, like what to eat or what to wear. Others are may be solutions to problems or ways to use our time or money. In the scripture lesson, Mark 10:32-45, disciples James and John demand Jesus make a choice. They want the special privilege of authority as they ask if they can sit to the right and left of him in heaven. Jesus explained that the choice was not his but God's.

The Disciples followed Jesus even though they were afraid. They feared for the future of Jesus and what was to come. When the others became angry with James and John, Jesus called the group together to explain that the commission would be to render service to others, to find greatness in servitude, not one of privilege. For even He came to serve and to give his life for the people.

We take pride in our accomplishments but what often gets lost is the source of our gifts. A new way to define accomplishment is not by what we do but by who is touched by our actions. Centenary has been blessed with leaders who put aside differences for the good of the church. They put the ministry of the church and the needs of the broader community above their own. Mark Kiguchi opposed the move from Normandie to Little Tokyo but once it decided, he worked tirelessly to successfully transition Centenary to its new home.

We live in anxious and unsettling times. We often want to turn inward as a coping mechanism. We need to have the courage to remain calm, to use all of our spiritual gifts to make decisions.

We need the courage to follow Jesus, to put aside our own desires, to seek service rather than glory.
